

Diana Perry, Aime Dunstan, Hilary Jordan and Angela Culveyhouse

Tricia Keitel, Mia Matthews and Marie Occhigrossi

Bob and Arlette Gordon

Melissa Parker and Patty Myura

Judi Richards

PALM BEACH CELEBRATES FASHION'S NIGHT OUT

Kevin Murray, Beth Pine, Jeff Fowler, Reginald Dunlap and models

Without question, Neiman Marcus was the It! place to be for Fashion's Night Out in Palm Beach. More than 500 of the island's beloved fashionistas flocked to the Worth Avenue store as part of VOGUE magazine's nationwide fashion industry celebration. Beth Pine, Vice President and General Manager of Neiman Marcus Palm Beach, was on hand to dish on the season's hottest trends, noting fur, feathers, structured handbags, pantsuits, military chic and hues of green are a few must-haves for fall.

A focal point of the evening was a live demonstration a la "Project Runway," when three celebrity It! Boys selected by It! Weddings & Events for their creative vision showcased their interpretations of the latest fall trends using live models and raw materials like bubble wrap, butcher block paper, doilies and feathers. Wedding and event designer Jeff Fowler, artist and Center for Creative Education Assistant Director Kevin Murray, and interior designer Reginald Dunlap of Gray Perez Design Group had the crowd cheering and begging for more as they added the finishing touches to their inventive ensembles, respectively titled "Road Warrior," "Rock & Lace," and "The Bubble."

Also selected by It! Weddings & Events, four celebrity It! Girls brought fashion trends to the table with glamorous fall tabletop designs. Neiman Marcus Palm Beach donated $250 toward the organizations represented by It! Girls Angela Culveyhouse, auction chair of the 2011 Heart Ball to benefit American Heart Association on Feb. 14; Aime Dunstan, chair of the "Feather Wars" opening exhibition to benefit the Pat and Richard Johnson Palm Beach County History Museum and Historical Society of Palm Beach County on Nov. 30; Hilary Jordan, Ladies Committee co-chair of Devil's Night to benefit Ann Norton Sculpture Gardens on Oct. 20; and Diana Perry, chair of Over the Big Top to benefit Center for Creative Education on Nov. 6.

The evening also included a live runway presentation featuring the latest in ready-to-wear and couture, as well as cuisine by Pistache French Bistro, Michelle Bernstein's at The Omphoy Ocean Resort and Christafaro's Catering. It! Weddings & Events served up verdant candies from two designer dessert bars, and The Sugar Monkey turned out more than 500 customized cupcakes from the It! Cupcake Bar.

Guests joined in a live fashion shoot in the CaptureSET pop-up studio while music by Elan Artists and DJ Nick Flash kept up the tempo. Echo mixologist Charles Steadman poured signature cocktails including Blue Feather Vodka, and Bulletproof Wine & Spirits offered a white wine tasting to round out the evening's menu of events.

For information, please call 561.801.0767 or visit www.itweddingsandevents.com. PHOTOS: LUCIEN CAPEHART

Neiman Marcus Fall Fashions

Aime Dunstan's designer table for Historical Society of PBC

NM welcomes It! Girl Aime Dunstan Historical Society of Palm Beach County